Christopher Phillips named the Employee of the Month by the Staff Employee Association at USU for October 2018.

Christopher Phillips, Accessibility Coordinator at USU, was awarded the honor of being named the Employee of the Month by the Staff Employee Association at USU for October 2018.

His colleagues recommended him as follows:

"He is a valuable resource across campus to those who manage the critical tools and resources available to faculty, staff, and students (both current prospective). Though his name may not be widely known, many people benefit from his expertise. He not only knows his stuff related to usability and accessibility, but he has the gift of being a teacher and can share what he knows in an easily digestible manner that empowers others to apply the principles and effectively use the available tools."

"He provides positive, empowering feedback and genuinely listens to the needs of those he serves, as well as being mindful of those they serve in turn."

Congratulations Christopher on a recognition well deserved!

If you know someone whose hard work should be recognized, you can nominate them to be the next employee of the month. All nominations are considered by the SEA Employee Relations Committee for an entire calendar year. Learn more about other qualifications to be nominated as an employee of the month.
